Billing Procedures

The specific details of our billing procedures are as follows:

1. Fees for Investment Management Services

(a) Fees for investment management services are billed quarterly in arrears, meaning client invoices for advisory fees are transmitted, electronically or otherwise, at the end of each calendar quarter. The fee assessment is based on the value of the account as of the close of trading on the last day of the quarter. The Firm customarily receives written authorization to deduct advisory fees directly from clients' accounts and in such cases, fee invoices are sent to the account custodian.

(b) Clients may also pay investment management fees directly by mailing a check to our address listed herein, no later than the tenth (10th) business day after receipt of invoice.

2. Fees for Advisory Consultation Services

Fees for advisory consultations are billed as agreed to by our firm and client. Depending on the frequency of consultations, clients may choose monthly, quarterly, or annual billing intervals. Invoices will be transmitted to clients, either in person, electronically or by mail and are due upon receipt.

Other Fees & Expenses

Clients will also incur additional fees and expenses related to management of investments and advisory service provisions. These fees may include, but are not limited to no-load mutual fund ticket charges, brokerage transaction costs, deferred sales charges on previously purchased mutual funds, IRA maintenance fees and other legal or transfer fees. The broker-dealers, mutual fund companies, and other custodians who provide account services charge these fees ("third party fees") and clients are responsible for payment of all third party fees and expenses. It is important to note that the advisory fees paid to our firm are separate and distinct from the maintenance fees and transaction expenses charged by these third parties. Please refer to Item 12, Brokerage Practices for more information regarding our account custodian.

Refund Policy

Clients who do not receive this Brochure at least 48 hours in advance of signing our advisory agreement are afforded the right to terminate their agreement within five (5) days, without penalty. Upon expiration of the five (5) day period, either party may terminate the advisory agreement at any time by providing written notice to the other party. In the event of termination prior to the commencement of a calendar quarter, any prepaid, unearned refundable fees will be refunded promptly, and any earned, unpaid fees due to the Firm will be collected prior to disbursement of funds, if any. In the event the Firm is unable to deduct final fees from account (in the case of transfer), the Firm will transmit an invoice to client, which is due upon client's receipt.

Other Compensation

Neither Great Bay Wealth Management nor its investment advisor representative accepts any compensation for the sale of securities or other investment products, including asset-based sales charges or services fees from the sale of mutual funds. PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES AND SIDE-BY-SIDE MANAGEMENT (Item 6)

We do not charge performance-based fees and we do not conduct side-by-side investment product management.

TYPES OF CLIENTS (Item 7)

Our firm generally provides advice to individuals, corporations, charitable organizations, and pension & profit sharing plans.

We prefer that clients make an initial minimum investment of $250,000 for investment management services. We reserve the right to waive the minimum investment requirement based on other criteria and in our sole discretion.

METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES, AND RISK OF LOSS (Item 8)

Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

Great Bay Wealth Management generally utilizes fundamental analysis methods to analyze investments. Our main sources of information include but are not limited to financial newspapers and magazines, inspection of corporate activities, research materials prepared by others, and annual reports, prospectuses, and corporate press releases.

Fundamental analysis consists of analyzing financial statements of companies, calculating financial ratios, and reviewing cyclical trends of industries in conjunction with monetary policy indicators to assess the overall performance and profitability of companies.

Our investment strategies consist of suitable asset allocation, diversification, and risk management. Our general recommendations consist of an asset mix of passive, low-cost exchange traded funds for long-term growth and income. We may also utilize mutual funds, equities, and fixed income securities in similar investment strategies. Based on the appropriate strategy for the client, we may recommend more tactical, short-term, and other hedging strategies.

Material Risks of Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

Furthermore, although we utilize common investment analysis methods and strategies, there remains some level of material risk. We primarily utilize fundamental analysis methods that measure the risks of companies by formulating assumptions based on historical financial representations. Although we use valid data sources, examine expense ratios, review return and risk ratings extensively, refer to economic indicators, review the implications of monetary policy, and consider management team tenure, our strategies are implemented as a result of the assumptions derived from the analysis of historical data. The results of investment strategies derived from this method of analysis are not guaranteed and past performance of investment is not indicative of future financial returns.

Notwithstanding the method of analysis or investment strategy employed by our firm, the assets within your portfolio are subject to risk of devaluation or loss. We want you to be aware that there are many different events that can affect the value of your assets or portfolio including, but not limited to, changes in financial status of companies, market fluctuations, changes in exchange rates, trading suspensions and delays, economic reports, and natural disasters. While this information provides a synopsis of the events that may affect your investments, this listing is not exhaustive. We want you to understand that there are inherent risks associated with investing and depending on the risk occurrence, you may suffer LOSS OF ALL OR PART OF YOUR PRINCIPAL INVESTMENT.

Recommendation of Specific Types of Securities

BROKERAGE PRACTICES (Item 12)

Selection and Recommendation

We recommend account custodians after evaluating several factors, these factors include but are not limited to, relatively low fees and expenses, execution capabilities, reputation, access to securities markets and expertise in handling brokerage support processes. We maintain a custodial services agreement with Charles Schwab & Co., Inc., (hereinafter, "Schwab"). Schwab is a registered broker-dealer, member of FINRA and SIPC and we are participants of Schwab's institutional services platform for independent Investment Advisors. Schwab provides brokerage, operational support and other custodial services to our firm. As a result of our established services agreement, cost implications, operational support, and custodial services provided, Schwab receives preferential status in recommendation of custodians for our clients' advisory transactions.

1. Soft Dollar Benefits

We do not receive research or other products or services (i.e., soft dollar benefits) from broker-dealers in exchange for placing trades or processing other securities related transactions for clients.

2. Brokerage for Client Referrals

Our firm does not receive client referrals from broker-dealers or other third parties in exchange for using any particular broker-dealer.

3. Directed Brokerage

(a) As previously stated, we recommend that clients utilize Schwab. Our service agreement with Schwab is designed to maximize efficiency and cost effectiveness on behalf of our clients. By recommending that clients use Schwab as an account custodian, we seek to achieve the most favorable results relative to trading costs, allocation of funds, and rebalancing of client investments.

(b) Great Bay permits clients to direct brokerage. If a client prefers a certain custodian, we will notify the custodian of our advisor-client relationship and proceed accordingly. Clients are advised that there may be greater costs associated with brokerage transactions pursuant to a directed arrangement.

Order Aggregation

In the normal course of our trading process, we will aggregate orders for multiple advisory accounts to obtain the best pricing averages and minimize trading costs for our clients. Accordingly, our policies and procedures mandate allocating the orders to the appropriate client accounts as soon as possible thereafter and allocating transactions equitably. The Chief Compliance Officer will review transactions periodically to detect and prevent excessive costs related to non-compliance with order aggregation procedures.
